It was a trip I'll never forget. When I was little, our family decided to go on a trip around an unknown Hungary. During the flight my mother started a small conversation with me.

- Ann, do you understand that you must behave well while our adventure?

- Yes, mother. Where are we going first?

So father packed all our clothes and we drove away. Him and He and mother looked very alike that day. They both were wearing comfortable warm clothes like jeans, scarfs, hats and boots. Mum even tied up her hair, usually she doesn't like to do it.

The first place to visit was a strange gypsy caravan on the way. The main thing I remember from this moment is a bizzare variety of colours and lots of different voices which made me feel confused. One of the singers probably noticed us and came closer.

- Hello, strangers! Do you want to play a game?

- A game? Why so out of the blue?

- People there just like having fun, that's why. So would you like?

My father has always been a challenging person, so when mother asked him to go away, he was being ignorant. When he lost, people tried to steal me. At this very moment parents understood everything and we quickly drove away.

Few hours later we stopped somewhere near the ^{bewildering} forest, where my mother burst into tears and hugged me with a relief.
